Description of Property List all property, regardless of who owns or possesses it. Describe each item as clearly as possible with as much identifying information as you have. If you do not have the type of property described, leave that row blank.	Who has it? Put an X under the person who currently possesses or has sole access to the item. Also, under "Marital," put an X to indicate whether it is marital property. Property is marital if it was bought or received during the marriage or benefits the marriage.			Who gets the item? For each item of marital property, write the current fair market value (e.g., the Craigslist or garage sale value) in the column of the person you think should get the item. If you think the item should be divided in some way, state what that split should be.
